TRAIL STORY

A pocket waterfall on giant granite

Little Cottonwood Canyon is famous for pale granite formed deep underground and later exposed by uplift and erosion. Seasonal water spills over that rock at Lisa Falls.

LOOK FOR - SIGHTINGS ARE NEVER GUARANTEED

- | | |
|---|--|
| ☐ Sparkles in a granite boulder | ☐ A shaded patch of moss |
| ☐ Aspen bark with dark markings | ☐ Water following a crack in the rock |
| ☐ A beetle, ant or other tiny animal | ☐ One safe place to watch the falls |

THREE TRAIL MISSIONS

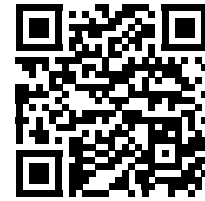

- 1 Find three shapes in the granite without climbing it.
- 2 Compare the air temperature in sun and shade.
- 3 Invent a two-line poem using the sound of the falls.

MAP IT!

Draw the short path, the largest boulder and the waterfall at the end.

Add a legend: start, water, rest stop, viewpoint and turnaround.
